Thriving Careers:
Navigating Bias, Reinventing Yourself, and Essential Skills for Employability

FRI, 20th SEPTEMBER 2024, 13h - 17h

In-person only @ Roche Basel
Grenzacherstrasse 124, 4070 Basel

The BBS Next Gen committee is excited to announce their next event with focus on hiring, skills needed to remain employable and competitive as well as assembling and developing cross-functional diverse high-performing teams.

The speakers will bring in diverse perspectives, including those of the hiring manager, HR, and recruiter. The agenda will be a mix of talks and interactive sessions to give the opportunity to share views and gain useful insights.

The event will be preceded by the informal BBS Next Gen monthly lunch (@KLARA, Clarastrasse 13, 4058 Basel) where attendees can network in an informal manner.

The Next Generation event series focus on soft-skills, professional development, and networking. The in-person meetings are specifically dedicated to support the next generation of statisticians and quantitative scientists in the pharmaceutical industry in order to succeed in the future and to become influential. We welcome people of all ages and experience levels, including those keen on understanding and supporting the endeavors of the next generation. This is a space where we can express our ideas, unite our voices, and create opportunities.

Registration will open end of August 2024.

Organizing committee: Antonella Mazzei (BMS), Lukas Widmer (Novartis), Muriel Buri (Roche), Olympia Papachristofi (Novartis), Youyou Hu (Roche) on behalf of the BBS Next Generation Committee
